Elias Sparta is struck by lightning while the sky is clear. By the will of Zeus, the god of thunder, he finds himself in Ephoria, a strange and unknown world. As soon as he arrives, he is confronted with the disagreeable Antares, the king's son, but also discovers Sandros, who will become his friend. Elias goes from surprise to surprise when he learns that he is one of the three chosen ones, just like Sandros who has a rather special gift and Auxane, the apprentice priestess. Zeus's chosen ones will therefore have to accomplish the oracle of the three suns and restore sight to the ancestral dragons. Agnes Ruiz is the author of several bestsellers, which sold over 370,000 copies. She was a huge success with her first novel "Ma vie assassin é e". She writes for adults as well as for young people. His news on the investigation of Detective Rachel Toury is also very successful in Europe and across the Atlantic. Several translations of its titles are available. She is originally from Normandy (France) and lived for almost 20 years in Canada. She is married and has three children.

La technique peut elle g é n é rer de nouvelles mani è res de se rapporter a autrui? Telle est la question de fond que pose cet ouvrage.

La figure de la fugue est incontestablement l'un des motifs centraux de nombreux romans jeunesse. Elle est aussi souvent employ é e comme m é taphore de la lecture des jeunes. Mais ne peut-elle pas é gale ment ê tre consid é r é e comme strat é gie narrative et source de cr é ativit é d'une certaine forme de cr é ation litt é raire? S'interrogeant d'abord sur la r é ception de la litt é rature destin é e à la jeunesse, cet ouvrage tente de cerner aussi une mani è re d' é crire pour ce lectorat. Les premiers livres destin é s à la jeunesse é taient des r é cits pour adultes r é crits pour les enfants dans un but didactique visant à é difier les jeunes esprits. Cependant, d é laissant, par exemple, la morale des contes au profit de la trame narrative, s'attachant aux exploits d'un h é ros sans se soucier des le ç ons que l'on peut en tirer, les jeunes lecteurs dessinent leurs go û ts et r é v è lent bient ô t leur capacit é de « d é tourner » un ouvrage de son but premier. Le pr é sent essai a d'abord envisag é ces modes de lecture des jeunes, fond é s sur la pratique du « d é tournement » et du « bricolage » - au sens o ù l'entend L é vi Strauss dans La Pens é e sauvage - par l'interm é diaire de l' é tude de grands succ è s de litt é rature de jeunesse. Puis, en analysant les ouvrages-jeunesse de Giono, Bosco et Le Cl é zio, il montre que chacun de ces é crivains, à sa mani è re, entretenant ses souvenirs d'enfance au moyen de la cr é ation litt é raire, prolonge et/ou r é pond à ce comportement d é viant de son lectorat et à son go û t pour les chemins buissonniers. Cette é tude propose une piste de r é flexion é tay é e par l'analyse de nombreux ouvrages ayant rencontr é le succ è s aupr è s des publics enfantins de diff é rents pays.

« En se basant sur mes sensations, au sortir de mes cauchemars au pays des merveilles, D. devrait en déduire que ce sont bien des rêves érotiques. Faut-il en conclure que la vie est un rêve érotique ? Je distingue de plus en plus mal la frontière qui sépare le phantasme de la réalité. » Pour sortir, Alain ouvre deux portes : celle de son appartement négligé lorsque, muni de son revolver, il s'en va travailler pour un obscur commanditaire ; et celle qui mène au bord du lac, où plane l'ombre d'Alice, son amour impubère. Les deux portes conduisent au pays du Vermeil...

Experimental Film and Anthropology urges a new dialogue between two seemingly separate fields. The book explores the practical and theoretical challenges arising from experimental film for anthropology, and vice versa, through a number of contact zones: trance, emotions and the senses, materiality and time, non-narrative content and montage. Experimental film and cinema are understood in this book as broad, inclusive categories covering many technical formats and historical traditions, to investigate the potential for new common practices. An international range of renowned anthropologists, film scholars and experimental film-makers engage in vibrant discussion and offer important new insights for all students and scholars involved in producing their own films. This is indispensable reading for students and scholars in a range of disciplines including anthropology, visual anthropology, visual culture and film and media studies.

Children's Literature and the Avant-Garde is the first study that investigates the intricate influence of the avant-garde movements on children's literature in different countries from the beginning of the 20th century until the present. Examining a wide range of children's books from Denmark, France, Germany, Hungary, the Netherlands, Russia, Sweden, the United Kingdom, and the USA, the individual chapters explore the historical as well as the cultural and political aspects that determine the exceptional character of avant-garde children's books. Drawing on studies in children's literature research, art history, and cultural studies, this volume provides comprehensive insights into the close relationships between avant-garde children's literature, images of childhood, and contemporary ideas of education. Addressing topics such as the impact of exhibitions, the significance of the Bauhaus, and the influence of poster art and graphic design, the book illustrates the broad range of issues associated with avant-garde children's books. More than 60 full-color illustrations demonstrate the impressive variety of design in avant-garde picturebooks and children's books.

In Cinéma Radical, first published in French in 2008, the artist Christian Lebrat reflects on a cinema that "follows its own rules and questions the very definition of the medium." His essays analyse the work of major film artists, including Stan Brakhage, Robert Breer, Marcel Duchamp, Germaine Dulac, Hollis Frampton, Ken Jacobs, Peter Kubelka, Fernand Léger, Maurice Lemaître, Man Ray, Jonas Mekas, Paul Sharits, and Michael Snow, among others.

Particularly in the humanities and social sciences, festschrifts are a popular forum for discussion. The IJBF provides quick and easy general access to these important resources for scholars and students. The festschrifts are located in state and regional libraries and their bibliographic details are recorded. Since 1983, more than 639,000 articles from more than 29,500 festschrifts, published between 1977 and 2010, have been catalogued.

Alice in Wonderland (also known as Alice's Adventures in Wonderland), from 1865, is the peculiar and imaginative tale of a girl who falls down a rabbit-hole into a bizarre world of eccentric and unusual creatures. Lewis Carroll's prominent example of the genre of "literary nonsense" has endured in popularity with its clever way of playing with logic and a narrative structure that has influenced generations of fiction writing.

Masters in Their Own House

Double Murder in Attractive Districts

Quebecois cinema, too long neglected and too long unknown by American viewers, and often not appreciated on its own terrain, receives its well-deserved defense in Janis L. Pallister's The Cinema of Quebec: Masters in Their Own House. According to Pallister, the neglect of quebecois cinema comes through ignorance, sometimes to be attributed to the whims of distributors. She intends that this study will redeem quebecois cinema and restore its status as an overlooked cinematic jewel, to be valued for its own beauty.

Major films, including Mon oncle Antoine, Les bons debarras, Le Declin de l'empire americain, Jesus de Montreal, Pouvoir intime, Un Zoo la nuit, Les fous de Bassan, J.A. Martin, photographe, as well as many other lesser-known works, are dealt with exhaustively.

In addition, the gynefilms of Lea Pool and such women directors' films as Mourir a tue-tete and Sonatine, are amply discussed.

Additionally, films about quebecois history and politics, films taken from the literature of Quebec, films about the quebecois society, documentary films, animated films - all aspects and genres of the cinematic arts as practiced in Quebec have a place in the author's work. Pallister treats the film production of Quebec from a historico-aesthetic perspective, but also pays attention to the historical, social, and political context in which this cinematic corpus was made. Although the book is largely concerned with films by French-speaking filmmakers, there is also a brief chapter on films in other languages, especially English.

Les illustrations surréalistes (parfois déconcertantes) de Gauthier se marient bien au texte de Carroll. Dans les deux cas, sous couvert de l'innocence, les auteurs y cachent des remarques ou commentaires d'adultes. Cette présentation recherchée, exceptionnelle n'aura pas l'appui des amateurs de Disney.

For Marie-Ève Gaspardin, the Seaside Hotel is of paramount importance. The thirty-year-old has always been fully involved in the company founded by her father. It must be said that she hopes to lead the establishment one day, despite the clear preference of her patriarch for the beloved son, Joshua. Fortunately, Marie-Ève is a fighter ready to take up any challenge to satisfy the great Rodolphe G. Gaspardin and keep the hotel afloat despite some financial problems. However, her commitment is severely tested the day she meets her attractive new neighbor, Guillermo Voily. Their unusual meeting leads to a whole series of accidents, and Marie-Ève finds herself playing nurse at the same time when family revelations are multiplying, creating a stir at the hotel. Will the young woman manage to do everything simultaneously? Agnes Ruiz is the author of several best-sellers. She had huge success with her first novel "Ma vie assassinée". Ce livre exceptionnel nous introduit dans l'univers de 30 restaurants belges d'exception, situés à parts égales entre Bruxelles, Wallonie et Flandre. Rencontres avec les chefs, leurs sommeliers et leurs collaborateurs, découverte des salles de restaurant et des caves, architecture des lieux, parcs et jardins... Ces chefs, parmi les plus grands et les plus étoilés en Belgique, évoquent leur formation au métier de cuisinier, leurs sources d'inspiration et leur recherche constante vers une cuisine d'exception où la surprise le dispute en permanence à l'émerveillement. Comme de simples visiteurs, Jacques Mercier, Guy Lemaire et Philippe Saenen nous introduisent dans l'intimité de ces lieux d'exception, nous faisant partager l'émotion du repas et le mystère de la création culinaire. Chaque découverte est accompagnée de trois recettes, soit 90 propositions partagées entre entrées, plats et desserts.

"Quand elle restait seule trop longtemps, elle examinait sa vie avec plus d'acuité, et elle admettait volontiers qu'elle était la captive consentante d'une prison dorée. Et cette prison avait été construite par ses seules utopies, et les portes closes étaient celles de ses seules chimères. Elle se sentait glisser inexorablement sur une pente cotonneuse et douce, interminable, car infinie. Elle se promettait d'inverser cette lente dérive, mais, dès qu'Alain apparaissait, ses résolutions se dissolvaient dans une impuissance béate. Il suffisait qu'il s'approche d'elle pour qu'elle redevienne une chatte soumise, inoffensive, obéissante et dévouée." Un roman d'amour intense et addictif où les personnages principaux sont fragiles et vulnérables tout autant qu'ils sont déterminés. L'auteur fait de l'ennui, de la routine du couple et des moyens parfois extravagants d'y remédier le sujet de son histoire, imprégnant son récit d'un réalisme sourd. Le style coulé et aérien, à la limite d'un lyrisme libérateur, se prête merveilleusement à cette fable moderne qui, de banale, va vite devenir passionnante. Les décors et une atmosphère d'une tiède moiteur achèvent de donner à "5, rue Zipal" le ton sensuel qui lui sied si bien.
