This open access volume provides for the first time a comprehensive description and scientific evaluation of underwater archaeological finds referring to human occupation of the continental shelf around the coastlines of Europe and the Mediterranean when sea levels were lower than present. These are the largest body of underwater finds worldwide, amounting to over 2500 find spots, ranging from individual stone tools to underwater villages with unique conditions of preservation. The material reviewed here ranges in date from the Lower Palaeolithic period to the Bronze Age and covers 20 countries bordering all the major marine basins from the Atlantic coasts of Ireland and Norway to the Black Sea, and from the western Baltic to the eastern Mediterranean. The finds from each country are presented in their archaeological context, with information on the history of discovery, conditions of preservation and visibility, their relationship to regional changes in sea-level and coastal geomorphology, and the institutional arrangements for their investigation and protection. Editorial introductions summarise the findings from each of the major marine basins. There is also a final section with extensive discussion of the historical background and the legal and regulatory frameworks that inform the management of the underwater cultural heritage and collaboration between offshore industries, archaeologists and government agencies. The volume is based on the work of COST Action TD0902 SPLASHCOS, a multi-disciplinary and multi-national research network supported by the EU-funded COST organisation (European Cooperation in Science and Technology). The primary readership is research and professional archaeologists, marine and Quaternary scientists, cultural-heritage managers, commercial and governmental organisations, policy makers, and all those with an interest in the sea floor of the continental shelf and the human impact of changes in climate, sea-level and coastal geomorphology.

Qu'on le découvre à pied ou en bateau, en franchissant l'étroite porte entre la pointe de Kerpenhir et Port-Navalo ou en descendant les rivières de Vannes ou d'Auray, on ne peut être que frappé par la beauté changeante du golfe du Morbihan. Inlassablement, courants et marées façonnent cette petite mer parsemée d'îles et d'îlots. Ce golfe à la géographie unique recèle un patrimoine culturel exceptionnel, du cairn de Gavrinis au château de Suscinio. Mais c'est avant tout son identité maritime (moulins à marée, forbans et sinagots, oiseaux de mer...) que met en lumière ce beau livre à travers plus de cent photos, dont de nombreuses vues aériennes. Un carnet de voyage complète cette escale dans l'un des plus beaux sites de France.

Cet ouvrage est une réédition numérique d'un livre paru au XXe siècle, désormais indisponible dans son format d'origine. The slave trade is one of the best known yet least understood processes in our history. The popular image of traders in slave ships going to Africa and rounding up slaves as if they were cattle is not only historically inaccurate, it also disguises the fact that the slave trade was a highly organized Atlantic-wide system that required close collaboration at the highest levels of government in Europe, Africa, and the New World. Using the private journal of First Lieutenant Robert Durand, and supplementing it with a wealth of archival research, Yale historian Robert Harms re-creates in astonishing detail the voyage of the French slave ship The Diligent. We have histories of the slave trade, most recently Hugh Thomas's massive and authoritative The Slave Trade, but The Diligent is something entirely different: a deep bore into the economic, political, and moral worldviews of the participants on all sides of the trade, complete with a vivid dramatis personae. Nobody who reads this book will ever look at the slave trade in the same way again.

« Sous la fine lumière de cette Bretagne déjà méridionale, c'est un décor d'un charme inoubliable, un fond de tableau comme les enlumineurs en disposaient derrière les Saintes Figures, sur les marges des manuscrits. » « Au delà du Pont Vert, ce sont aujourd'hui des voiles blanches qui vont danser le ballet des régales entre les îles du Morbihan. »

Dans le golfe du Morbihan

Le golfe du Morbihan

Tel un guide, Adrien Régent nous emmène dans les rues de Vannes à la recherche des nombreux monuments qu'il décrit avec passion et précision. Puis, c'est la visite de la côte du golfe : la presque île de Rhuys, sa terre de prédilection, les îles intérieures, la rivière d'Auray, la presque île de Quiberon et Belle-Île-en-Mer. " Nous n'avons rien décrit sans l'avoir visité ; nous avons consulté les archives, les papiers de famille et la tradition ; étudié et comparé les quelques pages écrites. Nous ne présenterons pas au lecteur la moindre thèse nouvelle tout en lui offrant beaucoup de choses inédites. " A. R. Ce livre a été édité une première fois en 1904.

Compiled by a team of Cruising Association regional editors and Imray, the Cruising Almanac is an annual publication first published over 100 years ago and long regarded as the perfect on board companion for cruising yachts. Each year, a well-known cruising sailor writes the Preface, and this year's is by Tom Cunliffe. The Almanac covers Northwest Europe from the Shetlands and southern Norway to Gibraltar and West Ireland to the Baltic. Based on first-hand experience and official data, all sections – text, plans, tidal data – are checked and updated annually. With over 750 port entries alongside passage notes (easily identified by their pale blue background colour), it's a vital tool for both planning and whilst at sea. 2021 tide tables for 47 standard ports are included in a separate booklet. The main Almanac contains tidal stream diagrams: full tidal details for secondary ports are included with the text for the relevant port. Updating of the Almanac continues throughout the year, with corrections published monthly on the Cruising Association website Almanac corrections page.

Entre la pointe de Kerpenhir au bout de la presqu'île de Locmariaquer et Port-Navalo en face, les puissants courants de marée défendent l'accès d'une des plus belles régions de France, le golfe du Morbihan. Cette " petite mer " de Bretagne où Vannes se mire, baigne une quarantaine d'îles et d'innombrables richesses offertes par la nature ou déposées par les hommes de la Préhistoire. En suivant les itinéraires de découverte proposés par Michel Huet (autour de Locmariaquer, autour de Saint-Armel, sur l'île-aux-Moines, autour de la pointe d'Arradon, et de Kervert à Kerners en passant par Port-Navalo), le randonneur attentif et curieux s'apercevra que chaque flaque d'eau de l'estran est un aquarium naturel, un jardin aquatique, que les espèces animales ou végétales du littoral sont extraordinairement variées. Il apprendra à lire les paysages exotiques du golfe du Morbihan, à repérer au fil du sentier la splendeur d'une fleur, le comportement étonnant d'un oiseau et l'étrangeté d'un mégalithe. N'hésitant pas à comparer ses observations avec d'autres effectuées aux quatre coins du globe, Michel Huet met d'autant mieux en évidence le trésor tant naturel que culturel représenté par le golfe du Morbihan, en Bretagne, sur la planète Terre, tout entière à réserver.

Le Morbihan. Des sites incontournables aux trésors cachés. Bonnes tables, chambres d'hôtes. Le plein d'idées sur mesure. Les coups de cœur des auteurs. Randonnées, sports nautiques. Un plan de la ville en couleur

The Reeds PBO Small Craft Almanac may be more compact and concise than the Reeds Nautical Almanac but it contains a wealth of indispensable navigational data specially tailored for small craft sailors, presented in an easy to find, quick reference manner for on-board use. Streamlined to focus on tidal data (tide tables, tidal streams and tidal curves) and lights, buoys and waypoints, the Small Craft Almanac covers the whole of the UK and Ireland and the west coast of Europe from Denmark to the Gironde. Published in association with Practical Boat Owner magazine, this practical handy Almanac boasts many unique features for small craft sailors and represents excellent value for money for those who don't need the more comprehensive marina data, passage information and chartlets of the full Reeds Almanac. Meticulously researched, it includes a huge amount of information of value to small craft navigators: tide tables, tidal streams and tidal gates; secondary port differences; 2,500+ waypoints; radio data; light recognition; weather information; principal lights; IALA buoyage; international codes and flags; sun/moon rise/set times; emergency information. Also available: free supplements of up-to-date navigation changes from January to June at: www.reedsnauticalalmanac.co.uk

Ecrin littoral ponctué d'îles verdoyantes et de criques lumineuses, la petite mer (Mor Bihan en breton), a légué son nom à un département tout entier. Baigné d'histoire, de culture et de nature, ce lagon atlantique aux multiples facettes séduit et émerveille. A pied ou en bateau de Locmariaquer à Port-Navale, le visiteur puisera dans ses eaux et ses vieilles pierres toute la quiétude et la douceur de vivre d'un lieu hors du temps. Unissant leur illustre passé à un présent plein de dynamisme, le golfe du Morbihan et sa capitale Vannes ont su conserver leur authenticité dans l'un des plus beaux cadres littoraux de France.

Véritable échancrure dans la côte sud de la Bretagne, le golfe du Morbihan étend ses eaux sur 12 000 ha en une véritable mer intérieure dont la porte d'entrée est la passe située entre Port-Navalo et Locmariaquer. Les rives du Golfe sont émaillées de ports de pêche, de pontons où sont amarrés des géants des mers taillés pour la course au large, mais aussi de chantiers ostréicoles. La majorité des 14 balades pédestres et des 2 cyclo-rando proposées emprunte une partie du GR qui ceint le Golfe. De faible dénivelée et de petite distance pour être découvertes en famille, les balades sont généralement en boucle ; sauf deux d'entre elles qui sont prévues avec un retour en transport en commun. Ces circuits permettent aussi de découvrir les charmantes villes qui bordent le Golfe et offrent un paysage urbain riche et diversifié.
