The thing about tattooing that makes people nervous about getting their first tattoo is its permanence. When they seek support or advice from friends and family, the first thing they hear is "Are you sure you want to do that? You can't just take it off if you don't like it." But despite all the warnings and despite all they know about tattoos, they will still get their girlfriend's name prominently inked into some painfully obvious place on their body. It happens all the time.
