Eleven days. Thirteen clues. And one kid who won't give up. Smack Dab in the Middle of Maybe is "part treasure hunt, part wilderness adventure, and all heart."--Alan Gratz, New York Times Bestselling author of Refugee How far would you go to find something that might not even exist? All her life, Cricket's mama has told her stories about a secret room painted by a mysterious artist. Now Mama's run off, and Cricket thinks the room might be the answer to getting her to come back. If it exists. And if she can find it. Cricket's only clue is a coin from a grown-over ghost town in the woods. So with her daddy's old guidebook and a coat full of snacks stolen from the Cash 'n' Carry, Cricket runs away to find the room. Surviving in the woods isn't easy. While Cricket camps out in an old tree house and looks for clues, she meets the last resident of the ghost town, encounters a poetry-loving dog (who just might hold a key to part of the puzzle), and discovers that sometimes you have to get a little lost . . . to really find your way. 2020 Mississippi Library Association Children's Author Award 2019 Southern Book Award Winner--Children's Category 2020-2021 Young Hoosier Book Award Nominee * "Told in the easy, laconic tone of good, Southern storytelling, Hackl's debut rolls off the tongue and into the heart easy as warm butter on a biscuit. Lyrical and endearing, this debut is a genuine adventure tale."--Kirkus Reviews, Starred Review "A tale of adventure, full of mystery." --Robert Beatty, #1 New York Times bestselling author of Serafina and the Black Cloak "Smack Dab in the Middle of Maybe is part treasure hunt, part wilderness adventure, and all heart."--Alan Gratz, New York Times Bestselling author of Refugee "A heartwarming coming-of-age story." --Kirby Larson, Newbery Honor-winning author of Hattie Big Sky "A masterful debut. Cricket is my new hero, brave and funny and full of heart. I couldn't put it down."--Augusta Scattergood, author of Glory Be "A brilliant, utterly absorbing debut. I couldn't get enough of Cricket's adventures. Totally unputdownable."--Carrie Ryan, New York Times Bestselling author of The Forest of Hands and Teeth Architectural engineering deals with the scientific study of the principles of engineering, and their application to design and construction. Research in this field focuses on the aesthetics of design, viable geometry and relevance to the diverse aspects of modern society. Experts are constantly striving to extend the limits of architecture through investigations in building design, materials and energy efficiency. Modern architecture explores the technological aspects of software architecture and computer graphics for elaborate design and planning. Contemporary constructions work within the principles of urban planning and take into consideration resilience to natural hazards and fatigue limits of buildings. This book contains some path-breaking studies in the field of architectural design and engineering. It aims to present this complex subject in the most comprehensive way possible. This book will be beneficial to architects, engineers, urban planners, researchers and students associated with this domain.

"Anne Washburn's downright brilliant play has arrived to leave you dizzy with the scope and dazzle of its ideas" - New York Times It's the end of everything in contemporary America. A future without power. But what will survive? Mr Burns asks how the stories we tell make us the people we are, explodes the boundaries between pop and high culture and, when society has crumbled, imagines the future for America's most famous family. A delightfully bizarre, funny, bleak and wonderful play that challenges dramatic form and the nature of theatre as storytelling. Published for the first time in Methuen Drama's Modern Classics series, this edition features a new introduction by Charlotte Higgins.

Advancing teacher preparation to full adoption of technology infusion is no small undertaking. Written by 20 experts in the teacher preparation field, Championing Technology Infusion in Teacher Preparation provides research- and practice-based direction for teacher preparation faculty, administrators, PK-12 school partners and other stakeholders who support programwide technology infusion in teacher preparation. Such organizational change involves almost every individual and system involved in teacher preparation. Topics addressed include: systemic planning and readiness of college-level leadership; programwide, iterative candidate experiences across courses and clinical work; technology use and expectations for teachers and students in PK-12 settings; strategies to support induction of new teachers in PK-12 settings; models for effective candidate and program evaluation; and much more. This book will help leaders and teacher educators in preparation programs plan and support the developmental needs of teacher candidates as they learn how to teach with technology. With action steps and "getting started resources" in each chapter, the book is well-adapted for study and planning by collaborative leadership teams at colleges and schools of education.

I Am Malala: by Malala Yousafzai and Christina Lamb Conversation StartersA Brief Look Inside:I Am Malala is the autobiography of Malala Yousafzai, a Pakistani activist for education and women's rights. The book starts with a description of the attack on her life, then goes right back to her birth. Malala's story is equally that of her father's who encouraged her and loved her in a patriarchal community where girls do not have much value. Her father encouraged her to study and speak up for girls' education, and Malala soon became quite well known in Pakistan. The extremist Taliban looked upon a young girl speaking up for women's rights as a major threat and shot a bullet straight through her head. The book is the story of her survival and subsequent dedication of her life to girls' education globally..EVERY GOOD BOOK CONTAINS A WORLD FAR DEEPERthan the surface of its pages. The brand-new historical novel from the bestselling author of The Alice Network and The Huntress — available to pre-order now ‘ A terrific book bursting with vivid atmosphere ‘ Dinah Jefferies, #1 bestselling author of The Tea-Planter ‘ s Wife "With the collaboration of a number of dedicated teachers and their students, Susan Empson and Linda Levi have produced a volume that is faithful to the basic principles of CGI while at the same time covering new ground with insight and innovation." -Thomas P. Carpenter This highly anticipated follow-up volume to the landmark Children's Mathematics: Cognitively Guided Instruction addresses the urgent need to help teachers understand and teach fraction concepts. Fractions remain one of the key stumbling blocks in math education, and here Empson and Levi lay a foundation for understanding fractions and decimals in ways that build conceptual learning. They show how the same kinds of intuitive knowledge and sense making that provides the basis for children's learning of whole number arithmetic can be extended to fractions and decimals. Just as they did in Children's Mathematics and Thinking Mathematically, Empson and Levi provide important insights into children's thinking and alternative approaches to solving problems. Three themes appear throughout the book: building meaning for fractions and decimals through discussing and solving word problems the progression of children's strategies for solving fraction word problems and equations from direct modeling through relational thinking designing instruction that capitalizes on students' relational thinking strategies to integrate algebra into teaching and learning fractions. With illuminating examples of student work, classroom vignettes, "Teacher Commentaries" from the field, sample problems and instructional guides provided in each chapter, you'll have all the tools you need to teach fractions and decimals with understanding and confidence.

Far too little attention has been paid to the role that assistant principals have in the development of high performing schools. Impact provides specific, practical, and replicable leadership strategies for today's assistant principal. Impact describes how to build meaningful principal/assistant principal leadership teams. The opportunities that assistant principals have to be the instructional leader of the school and the voice of the faculty, and the principal; in other words, how to “lead from the middle” are examined. Impact is a practitioner’s guide for the assistant principal striving to be a school leader. Target audiences include teachers wishing to become assistant principals, current assistant principals looking to excel and lead careers of significance, colleges of education working with graduate students who are being trained in P-12 school administration, and sitting school principals looking to expand the often under-utilized, potential of the assistant principal. This book examines the art and science of the assistant principal as a school leader; as a leader who impacts the lives of teachers and students. Great assistant principals matter. Provides an introduction to the legal system in general, and to specific areas of the law and the paralegal's integral role as a member of the legal team. This book enables students to gain an understanding of the laws in our society, the importance of ethical and professional responsibility, and the skills needed to thrive in this environment.

The only survival guide a middle school kid will ever need. It can be the best of times. It can be the worst of times, too. Middle school happens at that tumultuous time in life when one's not a teenager and not a little kid. Middle school means being a middle-aged kid. Expectations-from teachers, parents, friends, siblings-can all change dramatically, causing worry and concern even for the most laid-back student. The Middle School Survival Guide covers every issue, inside school and out, from the most trivial concerns to the most serious issues that middle school students face today. Arlene Erlbach has assembled a teen advisory board of 200 kids between fifth and tenth grade who give advice about topics from cracking a locker combination, to dealing with multiple teachers, to sex and dating.

Getting the best out of students is made easier by using teaming to nurture their educational, emotional, social, and developmental needs, and this guide is a blueprint for teambuilding in any school setting. True stories and practical strategies make this an effective and entertaining tool for assembling and managing a team within a professional learning community. It includes a dynamic “3-5-3” using teams to address Common Core State Standards. The book guides teams through resolving conflicts: planning ahead and preventing time wasting; setting consistent expectations for students; and connecting curriculum, instruction, and calendar schedules. It is a helpful combination of humor and instruction that will help any school with teambuilding.

Anastasia spent her life longing for an escape. Now, she will spend every waking moment searching for a way back. After a brutal childhood left her with both physical and emotional scars, Anastasia has fought for years to put an end to the nightmares. It's with him, the boy next door who is now the man she cannot live without, that she can finally hope for a happy ending. But in Anastasia's world, hope is a very, very dangerous thing. When she is kidnapped and dragged into a perilous world, Anastasia discovers that her nightmares are not figments of a broken mind, but rather premonitions of her harsh new reality. In a world plagued with dark magic and monsters determined to tear her apart, can she fight her way to freedom even though the only person who ever believed in her is a world away? explicit language, mentions of abuse, and torture. It is not intended for anyone under the age of 18. This is the first book in a completed five-book series.

Drawing on decades of research, policy, and practice, Jennifer A. O'Day and Marshall S. Smith show how strategies for pursuing educational quality and equal outcomes for all students can be linked, presenting an ambitious idea of the future of American education and a comprehensive theory of change for enacting that vision. In Opportunity for All, the authors argue that our current standards-based policy framework needs to be connected to a continuous improvement approach to build on and scale up successes and to address gaps in outcomes. They emphasize the value of focusing on a small set of high-leverage issues that are particularly salient for underserved students, and they call for deeper coordination between schools and community-based organizations to mobilize a coherent response to in-school and out-of-school inequities. "To improve outcomes for African American, Latino, and poor students, we must build the capacity of frontline educators to address student challenges in real time as well as the school and district level systems that support them. O'Day and Smith map out practices and strategies that, if systemically implemented, will empower advocates, practitioners, and policy makers to act in tandem to drive student success." --Bob Hughes, director, K-12, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation "In the context of persistent doubts that schools can matter for disadvantaged children, O'Day and Smith marshal convincing evidence that how much schools can matter is largely a function of how we invest in and support children and the adults around them." --Charles Payne, Henry Rutgers Distinguished Professor of African American Studies and director, Joseph C. Cornwall Center for Metropolitan Studies, Rutgers University-Newark "In Opportunity for All, O'Day and Smith set the agenda for the future of school improvement." --David K. Cohen, John Dewey Collegiate Professor Emeritus, School of Education, University of Michigan Jennifer O'Day is an institute fellow at the American Institutes for Research. Marshall S. Smith is a senior fellow at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.
